

Manchester Ancient Egypt Society:
14th September 2009

‘The Sphinx an update’ Colin Reader

The Great Sphinx at Giza is perhaps the best known of ancient Egyptian monuments. In recent years there has been a much-publicised debate over the actual age of the Sphinx.

MAES’s Secretary, Colin Reader, has been at the forefront of this public debate, combining his geological and historical knowledge to come up with a theory which works, fits within a conventional chronology and which is now being accepted by many Egyptologists.

Colin has explained ideas in several television documentaries. His research is on-going and in this lecture he will bring us his very latest ideas and evidence

www.maes.org.uk

